

University Pathway Programme for Bachelor/Master/MBA

The course:

EURASIA Institute is working with a large university network to place eligible international students for Bachelor's and Master's degrees. Since good German language skills are a prerequisite for the enrollment at 95% of the German universities, EURASIA Institute offers university pathway programs focused on German language courses and supports the candidates during the application process. Our pathway programs embrace a comprehensive preparation for university studies.

Students can choose almost any field of study. German education is known throughout the world for excellence, flexibility, and for the range of opportunities it offers. A degree from one of the carefully selected universities EURASIA works with will give students the qualifications they need to be internationally successful. Moreover, since most Germany universities are funded by the government, the degree programs are FREE OF CHARGE and the cost of living for students in Berlin is low in comparison with countries like Great Britain or the US.

The university Pathway Programme includes the following services:

I. Pre-arrival support

- University conditional letter (student's confirmation of eligibility to study in Germany)
- Visa documentation
- Blocked account opening
- Provisional insurance
- Visa support
- Reservation of accommodation

II. Language Preparation Programme & Support with University Application (9 months)

- Intensive language preparation course from A1 to C1 (36 weeks in total, 30h/week)
- Preparation for entrance exam at university (STK/TestDaF/DSH Exam)
- Individual advisory service and counselling for final admission

Benefits of the Programme:

During the programme, our German department supports the students with all educational matters while our student counsellors give the student advice on the university placement process as well as with accommodation issues, helping them to master the challenges of everyday student life in Germany.

Our German teachers are highly qualified and have many years of experience in teaching German as a foreign language. All teachers have lived abroad for a long period of time, and specialise in one or more foreign languages and cultures.

In addition to their instructive and illuminating language classes, our teachers are well-placed for supporting course participants in their intercultural and daily challenges.

We also give a success guarantee for our language classes and offer free repetition of course levels.
